

URGES STATE'S HISTORY KEPT IN MANY PARKS

Good Start Made in Creation of System Ought to Be Extended, Crawford Says

PARKS ARE DETAILED

Many Beautiful Spots in State Could Go in Park System

Creation of parks from historical sites in almost every county of the state is urged by Lewis F. Crawford, secretary of the state industrial commission and a director of the State Historical society. The state society is now engaged, he said, in enlisting the aid of citizens in various states to the end that Indian villages, mounds, historic trails, sites of military engagements, boat landings, trenches, trading posts be marked and set aside for state parks.

Detailing the state parks and plan of operation in an address before the American Association of Engineers chapter here, Mr. Crawford said: "The state of North Dakota at the present time has ten state parks distributed throughout the state. The State Historical society is custodian and has general care of all state parks.

The State Historical society has twenty-one directors, five of which are ex-officio and consist of the governor, state auditor, secretary of state, commissioner of agriculture and labor and state superintendent of public instruction. The remaining sixteen directors are made up of persons who have shown an interest in historical work in the state. These twenty-one directors select a separate park board for each of the state parks, consisting of three or five members living in the vicinity of the park to be administered.

The parks of the state of North Dakota have been acquired in the main by a gift. Any community, town, county or individual can deed to the state for park purposes any tract suitable for that purpose, and it immediately comes under the control of the trustees of the State Historical society, who appoint the local park board in accordance with the law governing state parks.

The state of North Dakota appropriates $1,500 for the biennium, not over $150 to be used by any one park board to fence, beautify, plant or care for the park, subject to the limitations stated above, the park board may spend at its own discretion.

(1.) The parks as a rule have been considered as community centers for picnics, public speaking, athletic contests.

(2.) For the preservation and display of plants and animals.

(3.) For the preservation of historic spots and sites in the state.

Most Important.

The most important of the state parks are as follows:

1. Waiwalle on the Pembina river near Norman W. Kittson located his fur trading post in 1844. It consists of five acres.
2. Fort Abercrombie on the banks of the Red River between Fargo and Wahpeton, to mark the site of the military reservation set apart in 1853. Fort Abercrombie was the first military post in what is now the state of North Dakota. The park consists of twelve one-half acres.
3. Fort Abraham Lincoln, five and one-half miles south of Mandan on the banks of the Missouri, consists of seventy-five and one-half acres. In addition to Fort Abraham Lincoln this park also includes the Mandan village, known as Slant's village.
4. Fort Rice State Park. Fort Rice was established and built in 1864 by General Alfred Sully as a military base when on his expedition through the Sioux lands, and attached to this park is an Arktaree village of 615 acres purchased by the Historical society.
5. Pembina State Park, three and one-half acres, donated by the city of Pembina is located at the junction of the Red and Pembina rivers on the south side of Pembina. This park marks the site of the first trading post within what is now the state of North Dakota. The trader "habilleux" established this post in 1797.
6. Small site for a park across from the Pembina State Park on the north side of the Pembina river, which marks the site of the old stockade built by Alexander Henry in 1801, and later the site of Fort Pembina in 1863.
7. Cavalier County State Park on Obrien Coulee, one mile west of Olga, donated by J. B. Beauchamp of Olga. This park marks the site of the fight between the buffalo hunters from Canada, the Chippewas and French half breeds on the one side against the Dakota Sioux on the other in the year 1848.
8. White Stone Hill Battlefield at Monagong. Congress granted the state a section of land for park purposes to mark the site of the battle fought between Alfred Sully and the allied Indian tribes on September 3rd, 1863.
9. The Homer Smith Park, east of asylum buildings at Jamestown, marking the site of old Fort Seward.

Counties Have Sites.

"Almost every county in the state has historic spots or sites that should be set apart as state parks. We need funds with which to place granite tablets bearing historical data on these sites. The trustees of the Historical society are desirous of enlisting the co-operation of citizens."

RESCUING HEROINE OF SEA WRECK

Hands reach out to boost and lift Mrs. Romi J. Hudgins aboard the tender Anemone from the life boat in which she, her husband and five men escaped from the S. S. TOTAL COST OF NEW WATER PLANT AND METHOD TO BE USED IN FINANCING PROJECT

Editors Note: This is the second article in a series discussing the water issue. These articles are prepared by City Engineer Atkinson and reflect the convictions of a majority of the city commission upon the proposition which will be before the voters May 14.

By T. R. ATKINSON, City Engineer.

The total cost of a complete new system as heretofore outlined, including 1,500 service connections from the mains to the curb cocks, all expense connected with taking up and relaying paving and every item entering into the construction cost is estimated by the city engineer at $705,028.

I desire to add to this statement, that Mr. L. P. Wolff, consulting engineer of St. Paul (who has had more experience in this class of work than any other man in the northwest and who stands high in his profession), has had the estimate of the city engineer submitted to him and advises that he believes the contract can be let for a cost not to exceed this estimate.

Deducting from the estimate cost of $705,028 the bond issue of $225,000.00, leaving $480,028.00 which will be assessed to lots.

For assessment purposes I have assumed that a twenty-five foot lot in the business district should be assessed the same as a fifty-foot lot in the residential district on the theory that a twenty-five foot lot in the business district generally has as much value in personal property thereon which will receive fire protection as the ordinary fifty-foot lot in the residential district. On this assumption the cost to each fifty foot lot abutting on water mains will be $109.28 and spread over a period of 20 years with interest at six per cent, the average annual payment, including interest, would be $6.74.

The remainder would be spread over lots not abutting on mains the average annual payment including interest on these lots not abutting on mains being from 21 cents to $3.99, depending on the distance these lots are from the proposed water mains. Under this plan a corner lot would be assessed no more than an inside lot. The total bonded indebtedness of the city, aside from school bonds, is $355,000. There is only one city in the state in the same class as Bismarck, where the total mill levy for school and city purposes is less than in Bismarck. I give below the total mill levy for school and city purposes in several cities in the state in 1922:

Bismarck	$5.63
Devil Lake	35.80
Dickinson	35.04
Fargo	40.20
Grand Forks	39.90
Jamestown	38.24
Mandan	30.30
Minot	48.63

The total average annual additional mill levy caused by the issuance of $225,000 of five per cent water bonds on the present assessed valuations of the city will be 2.31, so that any taxpayer will have his taxes raised only $2.31 per year on each $1,000 of assessed valuation. As the city grows, as it is bound to from year to year the cost for each $1,000 of assessed valuation will decrease. However, it is proper to say this bond issue will be paid out of the revenue derived from the sale of water.

The argument is made by some that if a new water works system is constructed the city will be obliged to pay the Bismarck Water Supply company the hydrant rental on 95 hydrants at $101.25 amounting to $9,618.75 annually. Inasmuch as the company's contract with the city has been broken by the company we do not believe that the company could enforce this part of the contract. Furthermore it is not believed that the company would attempt to operate its plant, pay maintenance expense and taxes amounting to $10,822.35 per year, for a gross operating income of $9,618.75.

We also hear the argument that the city will lose the taxes now being paid by the company. Of the above amount there is due the city $8,270.58, the remainder being county and state taxes. If the present rate of $101.25 hydrant rental paid the company is upheld by the courts, and a charge of $40 per hydrant per year is paid to the City Water Department for hydrant rental, the city would save $61.25 on each of the same number of hydrants of its own, or 55 hydrants, at $51.25, a total of $5,818.75, and when the cost of boiling water is taken into consideration and the item of spring water bought and the further fact that we are to have a real system and real hydrants, we do not believe the city will lose a penny in taxes now derived from the water company, if a new system is constructed.

3 GUILTY IN LIQUOR CASES

Enter Pleas in District Court, Receive Sentences

Hugo Hiehem, O. Prince and John Doctor, whose places were searched here recently, pleaded guilty of violating liquor laws before District Judge Jansoni yesterday afternoon. Sentences of six months and fines of $200 and $50 costs were assessed in each case, the sentence and fine in each case being suspended on payment of the costs.

O. R. Billington, charged with embezzlement, was in jail over night because of failure to furnish $3,000 bond fixed by Justice of the Peace Beer. He expected to furnish bond today.

Suicide Theory of Death of Northwestern University Youth Eliminated

RECORDS CHANGED

Police Note on Hazing of Sophomore Changed to Eliminate Bad Features

Chicago, May 5.—Elimination of the suicide theory as far as the coroner is concerned is a possible explanation of the death of Leighton Mount, Northwestern university student, whose skeleton was found under a pier in Evanston, north shore suburb, came last night after Oscar Wolf, coroner, and Edgar Jones, assistant state's attorney, had made a trip to Evanston and personally questioned a dozen persons.

Other developments of the trip, officials said, was the discovery that police records concerning the hazing of Arthur Borsinger, member of the 1921 sophomore class, had been altered. Borsinger was hazed by freshmen on the night Mount disappeared.

Official records of Borsinger's hazing, officials said, showed he had been bound head and foot and hung downward on the piling of the pier only a short distance from the water. At the request of Harry Peterson, mayor of Evanston, the officials were told, records were changed to show that Borsinger had been found bound in a horizontal position.

PROTESTS ARE MADE AGAINST COST METHOD

Property Owners Object to Special Assessment Manner of Financing

Several protests against assessing part of the cost of a water system against property as proposed in the city commission's plans were filed with the city auditor by a number of property owners. The time for filing petitions ended last night, and a number of additional petitions were filed during the day.

The petitions hold the special assessment plan is unfair to the property owners.

Additional protests include George P. Flannery, executor for the Alexander McKenzie estate, R. H. Johnson and F. H. Register, Frank Register, Todd Land Co., by Geo. P. Flannery, president; Mellon Bros. of Pittsburgh by Peter Wilcox; B. F. Tillotson, I. P. Baker, Lincoln Addition Improvement Co., by I. P. GRAIN SUIT BEFORE COURT

Are Commission Houses Liable For Local Houses, Question

Whether a commission house financing and handling grain for a local elevator is liable for conversion when it sells grain placed in the local elevator in storage is to be decided by the state supreme court. The case of Peter Kastner, holding storage tickets of five farmers who placed grain in storage in the Glen Ullin Cooperative Elevator Company between Oct. 10, 1920 and Mar. 1, 1921, is before the court. The farmers claimed to have put in a total of 2,611 bushels and were given judgment by Judge Berry in district court for $3,582.11, their demands.

The defendant is the Andrews Grain Company, a Minnesota concern which acted as selling agent for the Glen Ullin company. The plaintiff charged conversion by the Andrews Grain Company, alleging that at the time it took the grain it had knowledge the grain was stored with the elevator company as bailee.

An intervening brief filed with the court said that "the decision, if the court deems necessary to pass on the scope and effect of S. L. 2114 C. L. N. D. 1913 as to foreign commission merchants who finance and sell for, at the direction of local elevator companies, grain sold and deposited for storage by local grain growers in local elevators, will control future decisions of district courts in a large number of pending cases."

SHIP CARGO OF EGGS.

FORD WEALTH ESTIMATED AT FROM SIX TO SEVEN HUNDRED MILLIONS

Company Has Strongest Corporation Cash Box in the World, According to Figures Given Out in Wall Street Based on Reports to State

Called Richest Man

New York, May 5.—"The street" was generally agreed today that Henry Ford is the richest man in the world, following publication yesterday of the Ford Motor company's statement of its financial condition of February 28, 1923, showing assets of $536,351,939. Actual cash on hand was $159,600,087.

New York, May 5.—The Ford Motor Company, Inc., has more actual cash in its treasury than any other corporation in the United States if not in the entire world, according to figures announced in Wall Street, which placed the total as more than that of the United States Steel Corporation, despite the fact that the total assets of the Ford company is less than one-fourth the total assets of the largest steel organization in the world. The figures, taken from a statement filed with the Massachusetts commission at Boston, show that on February 28, 1923, the Ford company had a total of $159,600,687 cash on hand. This compares with total cash holdings of $126,700,131 reported by the United States Steel Corporation in its last annual report of December 31, 1922.

SOLDIERS PLEASED WITH TREATMENT AT JAMESTOWN

Conditions among the ex-service men receiving attention at the Jamestown hospital are ideal, said Mrs. F. L. Conklin upon her return today from that city.

"I took occasion to interview them as to diet and general living conditions, and they were enthusiastic over the treatment accorded them by Dr. Guest and Mrs. Guest."

"The men who have suffered nervous breakdown from shell shock and other causes are treated in a separate place from other patients. Those whose affairs have been in the hands of the Burleigh County Red Cross chapter are showing great improvement. They look well fed and seem to be happy. From personal observation conditions hardly substantiate charges made against the management."

LEGION GIVES "MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY"

Present Play at Rialto May 9 and 10

The Motion Picture News, one of the largest motion picture publications, has the following to say about "The Man Without a Country," the American Legion film classic which comes to the Rialto theater May 9th and 10th under the auspices of the American Legion Post.

"Such a production as 'The Man Without a Country' deserves presentation in the best of houses, for no situation of it strikes a false note. Its historic interest is great. The feud developed to such serious proportions that it terminated in the famous duel in which the brilliant statesman lost his life is pictured with all accuracy. It is one of the most dramatic of the many dramatic passages in the history of our country, and its handling here is truly great. Duncan McKee's interpretation of Hamilton is convincingly statesmanly and human, and Charles Graham's playing as Burr is of the same high order. But the acting of Arthur Day, the star, is perhaps the outstanding feature of the picture. His characterization of Philip Nolan, who in his exile grows to love his forbidden country more with each day is one of the finest pieces of acting ever contributed to the screen."

Many Beautiful Spots in State Could Go in Park System

Creation of parks from historical sites in almost every county of the state is urged by Lewis F. Crawford, secretary of the state industrial commission and a director of the State Historical society. GRAIN SUIT BEFORE COURT

Are Commission Houses Liable For Local Houses, Question

Whether a commission house financing and handling grain for a local elevator is liable for conversion when it sells grain placed in the local elevator in storage, is to be decided by the state supreme court. The case of Peter Kastner, holding storage tickets of five farmers who placed grain in storage in the Glen Ullin Cooperative Elevator Company between Oct. 19, 1920 and Mar. 1, 1921, is before the court. The farmers claimed to have put in a total of 2,611 bushels and were given judgment by Judge Berry in district court for $3,582.11, their demands.

The defendant is the Andrews Grain Company, a Minnesota concern which acted as selling agent for the Glen Ullin company. The plaintiff charged conversion by the Andrews Grain Company, alleging that at the time it took the grain it had knowledge the grain was stored with the elevator company as bailee.

An intervening brief filed with the court said that "the decision, if the court deems necessary to pass on the scope and effect of S. L. 3114 C. L. N. D. 1913 as to foreign commission merchants who finance and sell for, at the direction of local elevator companies, grain sold and deposited for storage by local grain growers in local elevators, will control future decisions of district courts in a large number of pending cases."

FORD WEALTH ESTIMATED AT FROM SIX TO SEVEN HUNDRED MILLIONS

Company Has Strongest Corporation Cash Box in The World, According to Figures Given Out in Wall Street Based on Reports to State

Called Richest Man
New York, May 5.—"The street" was generally agreed today that Henry Ford is the richest man in the world, following publication yesterday of the Ford Motor company's statement of its financial condition of February 28, 1923, showing assets of $536,351,939. Actual cash on hand was $159,605,687.

New York, May 5.—The Ford Motor Company, Inc., has more actual cash in its treasury than any other corporation in the United States if not in the entire world, according to figures announced in Wall Street, which placed the total assets more than that of the United States Steel Corporation, despite the fact that the total assets of the Ford company is less than one-fourth the total assets of the large steel organization in the world. The figures, taken from a statement filed with the Massachusetts commission at Boston, show that on February 28, 1923, the Ford company had a total of $159,605,687 cash on hand. This compares with total cash holdings of $126,700,131 reported by the United States Steel Corporation in its last annual report of December 31, 1922.

The report also shows that the company has merchandise on hand to carry along its business valued at $83,693,883 and accounts receivable of $41,938,329. In addition the company is carrying securities which are valued according to the statement at $37,401,605. The total assets of the company are given at $536,351,939.

The excess of assets over liabilities is shown by a profit and loss surplus of $359,777,598, on February 28, 1923, against a profit and loss surplus of $240,478,736 on the same date last year.

Net profits for the year, Wall Street estimates said, amounted to $119,000,000 equivalent to $90 a share on the 172,465 shares of $100 par value capital stock outstanding which Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, own outright.

Ford, they believe, has a total fortune, including his Ford Motor Company holdings of between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000 and ranks toward the top of the list of the world's richest men. He is only exceeded, it was believed by the holdings of John D. Rockefeller, Junior and Elder.

His vast wealth was obtained in twenty years.

SOLDIERS PLEASED WITH TREATMENT AT JAMESTOWN

Conditions among the ex-service men receiving attention at the Jamestown hospital are ideal, said Mrs. F. L. Conklin upon her return today from that city.

"I took occasion to interview them as to diet and general living conditions and they were enthusiastic over the treatment accorded them by Dr. Guest and Mrs. Guest."

"The men who have suffered nervous breakdown from shell shock and other causes are treated in a separate place from other patients. Those whose affairs have been in the hands of the Burleigh County Red Cross chapter are showing great improvement. They look well fed and seem to be happy. From personal observation conditions hardly substantiate charges made against the management."

LEGION GIVES "MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY"

Present Play at Rialto May 9 and 10

The Motion Picture News, one of the largest motion picture publications, has the following to say about "The Man Without a Country," the American Legion film classic which comes to the Rialto theater May 9th and 10th under the auspices of the American Legion Post.

"Such a production as 'The Man Without a Country' deserves presentation in the best of houses, for no situation of it strikes a greater note. Its historic interest is great. The feud developed to such serious proportions that it terminated in the famous duel in which the brilliant statesman lost his life in picture with all accuracy. It is one of the most dramatic of the many dramatic passages in the history of our country, and its handling here is truly great. Duncan McKelvey's interpretation of Hamilton is convincingly stately and human, and Charles Graham's playing as Burr is of the same high order. But the acting of Arnold Daly, the star, is perhaps the outstanding feature of the picture. His characterization of Philip Nolan, who in his exile grows to love his forbidden country more with each day is one of the finest pieces of acting ever contributed to the screen."

ADJUSTERS CALLED IN

Hail Insurance Department Manager Seeks Standardization

Fifty hail insurance adjusters, who may be used as "block men" if necessary, have been called to Bismarck on May 23 for a conference with Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olmstead and Martin Hagen, manager of the state hail insurance department.

"The meeting is called for the purpose of standardizing the work of adjusters in the various parts of the state, to discuss the different phases of adjusting and to instruct the men regarding the new amendments to the hail law which may have a direct bearing on the work of the adjuster," said Mr. Hagen.

"That no misunderstanding may arise later on," he also said in a letter to the adjusters, "we may state that the department will not pay you for the time you spend in attending the meeting, but will be glad to bear the necessary expenses you incur on the trip. Please bear in mind that you must show receipts for items of one dollar and over, so take your receipt book along."

The meeting also is to take up the subject of decreasing expenses of adjusting.

Woman Held in Honduras Is Said to Have Been Successful in Making Getaway

OFFICERS LEAVING

Party From Los Angeles To Bring Her Back Plans to Sail Late Today

San Salvador, May 5.—It is reported from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, that Clara Phillips, the California hammer murderess, being detained there has escaped.

Los Angeles, May 5.—Two pairs of handcuffs and a leg of iron were to accompany Eugene Fitzhugh, under sheriff, Mrs. Fitzhugh and Deputy Walter Hunter late today on their start for Tegucigalpa, Honduras, to bring back the woman under arrest, believed to be Clara Phillips, escaped hammer murderess.

They expect to sail late today on the steamship Venezuela. They hope to reach their destination May 16 or 17 and to sail for home May 30, reaching Los Angeles June 10.

Extradition papers, it is understood, will be sent direct from Washington to Honduras and are expected to be in the Honduran city before the arrival of the Los Angeles officers.

If Mrs. Phillips is of any trouble she will wear both pairs of handcuffs and the leg iron, all the way from Tegucigalpa to Los Angeles, said Fitzhugh. "We will take no chances with her."

WOULD BRING SPEAKERS HERE

Commerce Club Secretaries Evolve Cooperative Plan

Plans for bringing to Bismarck and other North Dakota cities leaders of national thought are being developed by the commerce club secretaries of North Dakota, A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Bismarck Association of Commerce, said today.

The plan is to pool the interests of the larger cities of the state, so that when a nationally known speaker is obtained for the state he will visit four or five cities, and thus reduce the expense of bringing him to the state, so that it can easily be met in each city.

Some speakers from the National Association of Commerce and other nationally known organizations probably will be brought in the state this summer or next fall under the co-operative plan.

LEGION HEAD MAY NOT COME TO BISMARCK

Plans of Alvin Owsley, Commander, Are Changed, Reports State

Friday, May 4. The national commander probably will visit the state at about the same time as originally scheduled but is expected to come over the Great Northern railway instead of the Northern Pacific, thus visiting Minn. and Grand Forks instead of Bismarck before reaching Fargo.

STATE TROOPS DIE IN FIGHT

POLICE HUNT FOR TRACE OF MRS. LINCOLN

Police, in Fifth Day on Mystery, Admit They Have no Definite Clues

Amoria, Ill., May 4. — Authorities now in the fifth day of investigation of the disappearance of Warren Lincoln today extended their search for Mrs. Lena Shoup Lincoln, his estranged wife, and Byron Shoup, his brother, by sending descriptions of the two to surrounding states. A request of the county board of supervisors to offer $1,000 reward for the arrest and apprehension of the slayer or slayers of Lincoln is also under consideration. Checking up on their clues the authorities today admitted they had no positive evidence that a crime had been committed and lack of such evidence precludes the possibility of an arrest on a criminal charge.

For Real Service Buy Red Crown

The High-Grade Gasoline

Gasoline Service is expressed in terms of mileage. When you buy 10 gallons of gasoline, in reality you are buying 150 miles of service, if you get 15 miles to the gallon.

Gasoline becomes a propelling force only when you cause it to vaporize and mix it with air.

The service which you receive is in exact ratio to the manner in which the gasoline vaporizes.

Red Crown Vaporizes to the Last Drop that's why there is no waste. Red Crown has a Perfect Chain of Boiling Point Fractions, adjusted so as to vaporize at just the correct temperature to produce instant starting Winter or Summer—a quick pickup—smooth acceleration—tremendous sustained pulling power—racing speed if you want it and a maximum of mileage.

All of which is summed up in two words "Real Service."

PHONE CO. ON NEW BASIS OF ORGANIZATION

Area Instead of District System to be Used; Personnel Changes Follow

The North Dakota Independent Telephone Co., has discontinued its district plan of organization and instead of having three districts, and these subdivided into smaller areas the state has been divided into twelve areas, each in charge of an area manager.

Accordingly the following changes are being made in the personnel of the Bismarck office.

J. L. Vachon, formerly area manager and in direct charge of the Bismarck exchange will be transferred to some other point, probably in Minnesota.

L. S. Craswell, formerly district manager becomes area manager in charge of commercial and traffic at the Bismarck exchange and the territory extending from Dawson to Glen Ullin; the north and south Soo Branch lines; the N. P. branch line to Flasher, and the Killdeer branch.

B. M. Dunn formerly wire chief at Bismarck becomes area plant chief in charge of plant operations in the Bismarck area.

J. H. Dingman, formerly of the district office will be transferred to some other point.

A change in personnel was also made at Mandan, F. H. Waldo former manager, having been transferred to the Northwestern Bell Company at Minot as area manager. Francis M. Parsons, son of L. M. Parsons of Bismarck who has been assisting Mr. Waldo at Mandan for several months and who was formerly employed by the company at Bismarck and Fargo, succeeded Mr. Waldo as manager of the Mandan exchange.

The change to the area plan of organization, whereby the area heads shall report direct to the division officials at Fargo instead of to a district office as heretofore, is in accordance with a plan which has been in effect for some time in other states where it has worked out efficiently.

Montana Coal Shut From North Dakota Is Charge

Minneapolis, May 5.—Rate experts for coal mines of Montana appeared today as interveners in the complaint of Northwest Coal Dock Operators in the rate hearing before the examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Montana witnesses declared that existing freight rates from the head of the lakes and from Montana particularly, eliminate Montana coal from North Dakota.

Dock operators charged that rates from the dock are too high and are discriminatory in favor of southern Illinois mines.

BOYS, GIRLS, INTERESTED IN BEE-KEEPING

Fargo, May 5.—Keen interest is being manifested among boys' and girls' clubs of North Dakota in the introduction this spring of bee-keeping projects, according to H. E. Rilling, state supervisor of extension work with juniors, who is issuing rules and suggestions for bee clubs in cooperation with Dr. H. L. Webster, entomologist, North Dakota Agricultural college. Bee projects have already been begun in Morton and Cass counties under the direction of the county agents. Experience in handling bees and producing honey as given as the aim of the work, and similar to the procedure in other club projects full reports of the progress and success of the work and records of labor, expenses and income are being required of the club members. Final scoring on the work of a club worker will be made on the basis of honey production, profit on work and management, quality of honey produced, personal attitude toward work, and records and the final business report.

Ten projects including livestock crop, cooking and clothing work are in progress in 30 counties of the state, and the mark of more than 4000 members made last year is expected to be reached again this year, Mr. Rilling says.

N. Y. REPEAL OF LIQUOR LAWS IS CRITICISED

Called Backward Step by Wayne Wheeler, Counsel For Anti-Saloon League

Washington, May 5.—Coming in the midst of a renewed effort to cut off New York's liquor supply by sea the action by New York legislature in repealing the state enforcement law which hereinafter has added toward federal enforcement within the borders of the state, is looked upon here as increasing many fold the difficulties of the prohibition enforcement force assigned to that territory.

Speaking for the Anti-Saloon League, Wayne B. Wheeler, characterized the enforcement law repeal as the "only legislative consolation prize the wets have won this year" and added that New York is in a class by itself and furnishes no criterion for law-abiding states on the question of prohibition.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Dudley returned from the movies and found their home at Sligo, Md., as it is shown here. A tornado had torn it from its foundation and turned it partly around. The nurse was dressing the baby when that happened but both escaped uninjured.

Resolved to bring home to America the need for action on the problem of reforestation, the national committee proposed to stress the advantages of such practical projects as the farm wood lot. Some 150,000,000 acres, or one-third of the total forest area of the country is on farms, and according to announcements made this week by H. A. Reynolds, secretary of the Massachusetts Forestry association, and chairman of the national committee, the maintenance of farm wood lots is one aspect of a good national policy of forestry.

PRIZE ESSAY

The prize winning essay from the Junior high school at Richholt school on "The Use of Our Native Trees, Shrubs and Flowering plants in beautifying our homes and our city," by Thelma Liedman reads as follows:

If we plant native trees and plants we will build up a natural outdoor museum of our own plant life and could preserve some species that are in danger of being completely destroyed by fires, breaking up of land, close pasturing and careless destruction of the thoughtless people. Plants are more beautiful when allowed to grow in natural surroundings and in groups or clusters.

We can plant the native pine and red cedar on higher ground. The ground or creeping cedar forms mats on buttes and can be used on terraces.

Oaks, Ash and the historic Elm made famous by Washington and Penn can be used on lower ground. The cottonwood, Poplar, Box Elder and Willow need more moisture so if you have a low place where you water a great deal you can put these trees there. The Birch, Aspen and Poplar should grow on slopes sloping northward.

We should be very careful when transplanting trees and shrubs so as not to cut off the fine roots.

The woodland and prairie Rose are very fragrant and grow on the prairie. The Prairie Rose was made our state flower by the Legislature. The Russian Olive or Silver Berry has silver colored leaves and makes a very attractive hedge, along side walks or fences. Fruit bearing hedges are the Flowering Currant, High Bush Cranberry, Wild Gooseberry, Sand Cherry, and the Choke Cherry, which are very nice to put along the house or fence to make it look better. The Dog wood is a beautiful shrub with white blossoms and berries. The bark is red and is very pretty in the winter. The Indians used the inner bark for tobacco.

Vines are desirable for climbing and twining and they produce much shade. They hide bare walls; the Virginia Creeper, Hog Vine, Wild Cucumber, Clematis and Bittersweet are hardy vines and grow in low places and need quite a lot of moisture. We all love the Wild Grape. It needs plenty of moisture. It could grow on walls to make them look more attractive. We can make our Public buildings such as churches and bare red railroad buildings look better by planting vines in such a way as to partly cover their walls and in our alleys we can plant vines along fences and garages. Our homes look much better and add more joy and beauty to our lives by having our kind little friends climbing around them. The Columbine is of interest to us because the Indians used it for perfume. It grows in shady places and it must have plenty of leaf mold.

It would be very pretty growing on fences so it could climb. The Pasque flower has a long and legend from the Indians. It is the first to bid us "good-morning" in the spring. It has gray hair like an old man. It would look nice against the house so to hide the foundation. The Yellow and Purple Violet are very pretty to put in a flower bed in the front yard. The Anemone has little white flowers and would look nice in a flower bed or between the trees. The Blue Bell has blue bell shaped flowers. It is a delicate plant. It is suitable to put around the little flower. It would look nice

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE.

On Monday the Eltinge theatre will show the Paramount picture, "Find the Woman" with a cast including Alma Reubens and Harrison Ford. It is a mystery story that really is a mystery until the end.

For Tuesday and Wednesday, another Paramount picture, "The Drums of Fate" featuring Mary Miles Minter with George Fawcett.

Maurice B. Flynn and Bertram Grassby in the cast, is the Eltinge feature. It is an adventure romance with the highly interesting background of the African jungle.

Ethel Clayton appears in "For the Defense," also a Paramount picture at the Eltinge on Thursday.

CAPITOL

Discriminating motion picture patrons will soon have an opportunity to witness one of the season's most notable screen successes, the latest production by Rex Ingram, the brilliant director who made "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "Turn to the Right," "The Conquering Power" and "The Prisoner of Zenda." The new Ingram opus is entitled "Trifling Women," and the name of the director is associated with it in several capacities in addition to that of producer. This photoplay is based on an original story by Mr. Ingram, and it was he who provided the screen adaptation. It comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday.

Those who saw "Trifling Women," during its engagement at the Astor Theatre in New York were impressed with the success of the versatile director when working in an unusual genre. His new photoplay is unlike anything he has done; yet it combines the elements of excellence that have stamped him as one of the hopefuls of the screen. It has the dramatic thrill of "The Four Horsemen," the romantic beauty of "The Prisoner of Zenda" and the suspense of "The Conquering Power." It has, too, what each of these photoplays had; remarkable attention to details, supreme good taste and intelligence, and an uncanny gift for pungent characterization.

A Big Fight Looms Over Immigration

Judge Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, said a few days ago that "America is faced by a shortage of labor due principally to the laws restricting immigration. These laws, as passed, are the worst things that ever happened to this country economically. There is a great abundance of labor on the other side of the water that would be glad to come over and develop our resources." In a later statement he explained that he does not defend unrestricted immigration but that he would have the restrictions so modified that the "number allowed to come here should be equal to the necessities of our industries." Judge Gary is supported in his contention by the leading financial papers.

The majority opinion as reflected in the editorial columns of the daily press seems to line up with Labor rather than with Judge Gary in this heated controversy.

Secretary of Labor Davis, in a report to President Harding, says: "It is unnecessary to point out the evil of throwing open the gates at a time of prosperity in order to flood the country with workers and non-workers whose very presence would serve to bring prosperity to an end."

All sides of this important question, which undoubtedly will be carried into Congress, are presented in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, May 5.

PHONE CO. ON NEW BASIS OF ORGANIZATION

Area Instead of District System to be Used; Personnel Changes Follow

The North Dakota Independent Telephone Company has discontinued its district plan of organization and instead of having three districts, and these subdivided into smaller areas, the company has been divided into twelve areas, each in charge of an area manager.

Accordingly the following changes are being made in the personnel of the Bismarck office.

L. L. Vachon, formerly area manager and in direct charge of the Bismarck exchange, will be transferred to some other point, probably in Minnesota.

L. S. Craswell, formerly district manager becomes area manager in charge of commercial and traffic at the Bismarck exchange and the territory extending from Dawson to Glen Ullin; the north and south Soo Branch lines; the N. P. branch line to Platteau, and the Killdeer branch.

B. M. Dunn, formerly wire chief at Bismarck becomes area plant chief in charge of plant operations in the Bismarck area.

J. H. Dingman, formerly of the district office will be transferred to some other point.

A change in personnel was also made at Mandan. F. H. Waldo former manager, having been transferred to the Northwestern Bell Company at Minot as area manager. Francis M. Parsons, son of L. M. Parsons of Bismarck who has been assisting Mr. Waldo at Mandan for several months and who was formerly employed by the company at Bismarck and Fargo, succeeded Mr. Waldo as manager of the Mandan exchange.

The change to the area plan of organization, whereby the area heads shall report direct to the division officials at Fargo instead of to a district office as heretofore, is in accordance with a plan which has been in effect for some time in other states where it has worked out efficiently.

BOYS, GIRLS, INTERESTED IN BEE-KEEPING

Fargo, May 5.—Keen interest is being manifested among boys' and girls' clubs of North Dakota in the introduction this spring of bee-keeping projects, according to H. E. Rilling, state supervisor of extension work with juniors, who is issuing rules and suggestions for the clubs in cooperation with Dr. H. L. Webster, entomologist, North Dakota Agricultural college. Bee projects have already been begun in Morton and Cass counties under the direction of the county agents. Experience in handling bees and producing honey as given as the aim of the work, and similar to the procedure in other club projects full reports of the progress and success of the work and records of labor, expenses and income are being required of the club members. Final scoring on the work of a club worker will be made on the basis of honey production, profit on work and management, quality of honey produced, personal attitude toward work, and records and the final business report.

N. Y. REPEAL OF LIQUOR LAWS IS CRITICISED

Called Backward Step by Wayne Wheeler, Counsel For Anti-Saloon League

Washington, May 5.—Coming in the midst of a renewed effort to cut off New York's liquor supply by sea the action by New York legislature in repealing the state enforcement law which hereinafter has aided toward federal enforcement within the borders of the state is looked upon here as increasing many fold the difficulties of the prohibition enforcement force assigned to that territory.

Speaking for the Anti-Saloon League, Wayne B. Wheeler, characterized the enforcement law repeal as the "only legislative compromise" which the state has made this year and added that New York is in a class by itself and furnishes no criterion for law-abiding states on the question of prohibition.

NORTH DAKOTA IN PROGRAM

National Effort Toward Reforestation Planned

Fargo, N. D., May 5.—North Dakota will be included in plans for a nationwide program of reforestation which is being formulated this spring by the National Farm Forestry Extension Committee which met recently in New Haven, Conn., and which appointed Dr. E. S. Reynolds, botanist, North Dakota Agricultural college, this week, to membership as a representative for North Dakota.

More Exciting Than the Movie

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Dudley returned from the movies and found their home at Sligo, Md., as it is shown here. A tornado had torn it from its foundation and turned it partly around. The nurse was dressing the baby when that happened but both escaped uninjured.

Resolved to bring home to America the need for action on the problem of reforestation, the national committee proposed to stress the advantages of such practical projects as the farm wood lot. Some 150,000,000 acres, or one-third of the total forest area of the country is on farms, and according to announcements made this week by H. A. Reynolds, secretary of the Massachusetts Forestry association, and chairman of the national committee, the maintenance of farm wood lots is one aspect of a good national policy of forestry.

"TOLD YOU SO"

How many days since you have thought of Cane? He is almost forgotten. To endure persistently in American memory, one must be a baseball player, a prizefighter, a stage or movie star, a theatrical scientist or medical man—or the inventor or marketer of a breakfast food, beauty lotion or some mechanical device that can be sold cheaply.

A reader, one of the wise few who will get permanent good from Cane's system of harnessing the imagination, sends a letter announcing his discovery that the original disciple of the Cane method of treating ailments by autosuggestion was—Socrates!

He died 2322 years ago.

Xenophon, Greek historian and militarist, wrote in his "Memorabilia" that Socrates one day said to him:

"I consider that those live best who study best to become as good as possible; and that those live with most pleasure who feel the most assurance that they are daily growing better and better."

That sounds familiar, strikingly like Cane's "Day by day, in every way, I grow better and better."

Cane, of course, never claimed that he originated the idea, but instead popularized it by giving it a new twist. Hudson had the same idea 31 years ago. So did others, farther back, on through the misty ages. Socrates may have picked it up in the writings of some ancient who died centuries before Socrates was born.

Ten thousand years ago, and more, they probably had epiphanies of the Cane idea. The orientals, especially.

Thousands of years from now, the Cane idea will be resurrected and have flash-in-the-pan epidemics of popularity.

What a pity, that these good ideas cannot stay with us permanently instead of visiting occasionally and departing before they become indelible!

Through the ages, experience has taught certain lessons which the wise have put in the form of proverbs. Such sayings as "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," "Honesty is the best policy," "Don't make a mountain out of a molehill."

All this wisdom is available to us, constantly. But, as with the Socrates-Cane idea, we most of the time ignore what was found to be truthful by previous generations who got hard bumps in the finding. "Old fogey" notions, we call them. So did past generations, and so will future.

We forget or ignore the proved wisdom because each generation thinks it's the smartest ever. We take a chance, go contrary to proved wisdom—and land on our heads.

Success and happiness are easy to reach; the rule's simple.

FATE

Elmer Goss, steeple jack, falls 50 feet in Los Angeles, gets up, brushes himself and climbs back on the job. He's getting used to it, this being his sixth fall, in four of which his assistants were killed.

"I suppose I'll get killed some day," Goss admits. "But I hate to give up the work. It pays me $50 a day."
That's $300 a week. The other day it was revealed in a lawsuit in New York that as far back as several years ago Mary Pickford was on a salary of $10,000 a week, or 33 times as much as Elmer Goss gets for risking his neck on steeples. Fate plays favorites, though some of us try to kid ourselves that all are created equal. Talent is partly responsible for Our Mary's huge income, but the principal factor was the invention of the movie.

SPRING

Spring has been late this year because the sun has been having a chill. The heat cast off by that great furnace up in the sky is not up to standard. While it's only four per cent less than it should be, that's enough to play havoc with our weather.

So announces Prof. C. G. Abbot of the National Academy of Science. "Sensational and extraordinary!" scientists comment.

The sudden and unexplained cooling of the sun began about 15 months ago. Don't worry. A congressional committee probably will investigate it. The sun's chill follows a period of several years in which its heat was above normal. Apparently nature is merely evening things—restoring to normal balance.

BOOM

Three years ago this May, the silk market collapsed and the great after-the-war boom began going to pieces. You recall those happy days, when money grew on trees. The ghost of that prosperity is out of its grave now, for how long no one knows.

Just before prosperity had "a stroke" in 1920, business was going at top speed. And yet, for every 140 cars of freight moved by the railroads in those days, the roads recently have been hauling 184 cars. We're in a Production Boom now, not a Big Profits Boom as in 1920.

THEATRICAL

You read about Mary Pickford's salary of $10,000 a week—over half a million dollars a year. There are hundreds of business men in America who make that much or more. Why do they catch your attention and cling less than Mary?

The big salary lures most of us. But what makes the real impression is Mary's fame—her silent applause. We're all theatrical at heart, long to strut before the audience. Let the average person gratify his vanity and he'll let you have the money.

RUM-BUNNERS

British liquor exports to Mexico (?) and West Indies (?) last year totaled 609,500 gallons, against 30,156 in 1918. At the most, not more than 2,300,000 quarts were smuggled into America last year, or only a quart for every 50 of us. Prohibition a failure!

ELKS MINSTRELS
SHOW PLEASURES
BIG AUDIENCE

Garden" added a pleasing combination of beauty and pleasing music to the show. Harry Bernstein and Archie McPhee, in their impersonation of "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean" won all kinds of laurels in the show but made the stage hands kind of sore by delaying the show about ten minutes to answer repeated encores.

When the curtain lifted on the second part of the show, the Elks modern minstrels, there was a round of applause. Seventy-five men were on the stage, orchestra in the center, Clint Draper as director, the black-face and men in wild array and scores of others in costumes exceedingly pleasing to the eye. Thomas Hall was interactor. The music list included "Where the Bamboo Babies Grow" with Dr. P. H. Grever singing "Through the Night" by George Humphreys, and peppy songs or hitting melodies from Dick Hall, Frank Gale, Harry Bernstein, H. H. Finner, M. O. Steen, Henry Halverson, T. H. Halloran, Rex Berndt and the ensemble by the entire company.

Best Yet, Verdict

This was the fourth minstrel show Mr. Draper has directed for the Elks, and it was voted the best of the four. New scenery and costumes brought by Mr. Draper added to the show, many of the effects reflecting the artistic selection of Mrs. Draper.

Girls of the Indian school were guests of the Elks.

zens of the state to the end that Indian villages, mounds, historic trails, sites of military engagements, boat landings, treaties, trading posts, be marked and set aside for state parks. There are too many beauty spots in the state that should be set aside, around which no historic associations cluster. In many cases the state parks may be connected up with city parks.

"The trustees of the Historical society recently appointed a park commission consisting of O. G. Libby, Dana Wright, H. E. Simpson, Judge A. M. Christensen and George F. Will. These men are familiar with the state parks situation and take a keen appreciation in things of historic and scientific interest and are well qualified to render the service that the state needs. During the present summer these men will be engaged in looking over certain additional tracts to be obtained for state park purposes. These men can do much but with the limited time at their disposal it will be impossible for them to visit all the sites that should be included in state parks. Citizens of the state interested in such matters should lay their claims before the trustees of the Historical society who would be glad to avail themselves of all the local support such interested citizens may be able to give, in establishing additional parks."

Tires With 500 Nail
Holes Leak No Air

Mr. K. P. Milburn of Chicago has invented a new puncture proof inner tube, which, in actual test, was punctured 500 times without the loss of any air. Increase your mileage from 10,000 to 12,000 miles without removing this wonderful tube from the wheel, and the beauty of it all is that this new puncture-proof tube costs no more than the ordinary tube, and makes riding a real pleasure. You can write Mr. K. P. Milburn at 350 37th St., Chicago, as he wants them introduced everywhere. Wonderful opportunity for agents. If interested write him today.

The construction of a building which is outwardly the duplicate of the present high school section of the Central school property to be an addition to the west side of the present buildings, is one suggestion under consideration by the city board of education.

The purchase of a second block of

The matter will be threshed out at a meeting of the board Monday evening.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHER
TON TO HER FRIEND, REA-
TRICE GRIMSHAW

DEAR BEE

I am writing this letter to you because you only of all the people I know are aware of the reason why I decided not to give up my position when I married Sam. You knew that he, like many other men of great talent or business perspicuity of vision and fascination, was addicted to drink before the prohibition law was passed.

I do not think I would ever have married him had not prohibition become a law. It seemed to me that in our circumstances it would be almost impossible for Sam to get very much liquor and I knew he really wanted to break off from the awful stuff.

You have often heard my ideas on the subject and you know that I have always thought it was the agent which led to the most terrible tragedies and the greatest immorality in all the world.

Sam is not unkind; he is not impolite even when he has been drinking. But he is not himself. And I am always afraid that he will do something for which he will have to pay to the uttermost.

The day after the quarrel of which I wrote you, when Sam came in I noticed that he did not kiss me. I thought it was very strange, but when I made an excuse to get near him I understood. He had been drinking.

He owned up to it when I accused him, but excused it by saying that his boss had invited him to luncheon and that he had had something on his hip. "I could hardly refuse to drink even from your boss," he murmured, somewhat belittlingly.

"I wonder if you know," I said to Sam, "that Mr. Watkins would be the first to discharge you if you should do anything reprehensible while under the influence of liquor?"

"Of course I do, my dear, but I see I am not going to do anything reprehensible. You know that, do you not?"

"I think you did something reprehensible, Sam, when you accepted a drink even from your boss. You were both disobeying the laws of your country."

"Oh, come off, Sally, don't be a prude. A man is rather proud of being drunk nowadays. It shows that either he has money himself or has friends who have money."

"And is having money the standard by which you live, Sam?"

"Isn't it yours?" he asked rather satirically.

And then, Sally, I knew that Sam thought I was working outside my home simply to make a little more money when you know and I know I was only keeping my position for fear that same day Sam will lose his.

Am I right or is he?
Dubiously,
SALLY.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Private Buttons was very happy. He had always wanted to be a general and now he was one.

He was a general in the wooden army in Bing-Bing Land because the Twins had made a mistake when he was getting mended in the hospital after a battle.

They had painted General Gold Braid's star on Private Button's shoulder and hadn't put anything on the general's shoulder.

The wooden army never knew the difference because they both looked alike, and saluted Private Buttons and stood around and waited for orders as though he had been a general all his life.

"Now then!" smiled Private Buttons to himself. "We've been dilly dallying long enough and I for one am tired of fighting. I'm going to do something big."

So he called the officers around him and told them to get ready for battle.

"I want the big guns here!" he said, pointing to a man. "And the cavalry there!" And he pointed to another place. "And trenches dug here, and there and yonder! Be ready to go over the top at 6 o'clock. The officers all said, 'Yes sir!' Very good, sir!" and went away to get ready.

At that very minute General Hobbledoch of the tin army was pinning medals on Nancy and Nick, and boasting that he would win the war.

Suddenly bang bang, bang, Bangity, bang, bang! went a hundred guns outside. Everybody jumped.

The door was flung open and in rushed a dozen wooden soldiers.

"You are our prisoner, General Hobbledoch," they cried. "Hurrah, the war is over and we have won. Hurrah for Nancy and Nick!"

Isn't that the way, my dears? When we are boasting the most is usually the very time we should be most careful.

Medics Publish
New Magazine

A new magazine, "Hygeia" published by the American Medical Association with headquarters in Chicago Ill., made its first appearance this month.

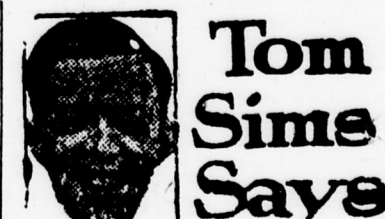

The magazine is undoubtedly intended as an inspirational organ for the medical profession. Subjects prominently before people of the present age are treated in the issue by various authorities.

"Hay Fever," "The Early Spring Type," is thoroughly discussed by I. Chandler Walker who develops the subject from ancient times up to the present. He throws some interesting lights upon the symptoms of the disease.

"Our Favorite Murder" which is the mosquito instead of the rattlesnake is ably dealt with by Samuel Hopkins Adams. Other interesting subjects which are treated in the issue are "The diseases caused by parasites and their geographic distribution," "Scientific nutrition and public health," "The Danger of Measles," "Patent Medicines," and a number of other equally interesting articles.

The magazine is neatly printed and contains 132 pages of reading matter.

Dining Car Service Famously Good

IT is not accidental that the Northern Pacific has, for years, been famous for its dining cars. To maintain supremacy in public favor has required devoted, talented, efficient service. It has required keen leadership, hard work, loyalty—and more; genius has been put in, and artistry, and culinary skill of high order.

The Northern Pacific is proud of its dining cars. It is proud of the men who operate them and the men who manage the department. They are men you would be proud of, too—friendly, hospitable, efficient, anxious to satisfy to the utmost every single guest.

Our dining cars do things not just "good enough" but the very best way in which they can be done. Note the silverware for example. It is not "just clean." It shines! Three times every day, whether used or not, every piece of silverware on each dining car is polished. Not just washed. Polished! The table linen is always clean. We do not cover over soiled cloths with skimpy "tops"; we remove soiled cloths and use full linen covers of finest quality.

So with the food. It is not just good food. It is as nearly perfect as human ability can produce and place before you. We are proud of every dish we serve because we know that the best effort and the best talent of our dining car department have gone into it.

Bank Service

Banks have come to realize that they prosper as their customers prosper. If the bank can help them to expand their business and increase their profits, the increased prosperity will react to the benefit of the institution.

For this reason there have grown up many miscellaneous activities in a bank which are of no direct profit. Investment advice, collection service, security purchases, the obtaining of credit information are part of the service that can be obtained through the assistance of one's banker.

In extending these services to our customers, we are striving to further their interests since the more solid the business foundation of the community the sounder the business risks.

"TOLD YOU SO"
How many days since you have thought of "Cone"? He is almost forgotten. To endure persistently in American memory, one must be a baseball player, a prizefighter, a stage or movie star, a theatrical scientist or medical man—or the inventor or marketer of a breakfast food, beauty lotion or some mechanical device that can be sold cheaply.

A reader, one of the wise few who will get permanent good from Cone's system of harnessing the imagination, sends a letter announcing his discovery that the original disciple of the Cone method of treating ailments by autosuggestion was Socrates.

He died 2,222 years ago.

Xenophon, Greek historian and militarist, wrote in his "Memorabilia" that Socrates one day said to him:

"I consider that those live best who study best to become as good as possible; and that those live with most pleasure who feel the most assurance that they are daily growing better and better."

That sounds familiar, strikingly like Cone's "Day by day, in every way, I grow better and better."

Cone, of course, never claimed that he originated the idea, but instead popularized it by giving it a new twist. Hudson had the same idea 31 years ago. So did others, farther back, on through the misty ages. Socrates may have picked it up in the writings of some ancient who died centuries before Socrates was born.

Ten thousand years ago, and more, they probably had epidemics of the Cone idea. The orientals, especially.

Thousands of years from now, the Cone idea will be resurrected and have flash-in-the-pan epidemics of popularity.

What a pity, that these good ideas cannot stay with us permanently instead of visiting occasionally and departing before they become indelible!

Through the ages, experience has taught certain lessons which the wise have put in the form of proverbs. Such sayings as "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," "Honesty is the best policy," "Don't make a mountain out of a molehill,"

All this wisdom is available to us, constantly. But, as with the Socrates-Cone idea, we most of the time ignore what was found to be truthful by previous generations who got hard bumps in the flunking. "Old fogey" notions, we call them. So did past generations, and so will future.

We forget or ignore the proved wisdom because each generation thinks it's the smartest ever. We take a chance, go contrary to proved wisdom—and land on our heads.

Success and happiness are easy to reach, the rule's simple.

FATE
Elmer Goss, steeple jack, falls 50 feet in Los Angeles, gets up, brushes himself and climbs back on the job. He's getting used to it, this being his sixth fall, in four of which his assistants were killed.
"I suppose I'll get killed some day," Goss admits. "But I hate to give up the work. It pays me $50 a day."
That's $300 a week. The other day it was revealed in a lawsuit in New York, that as far back as several years ago Mary Pickford was on a salary of $10,000 a week, or 33 times as much as Elmer Goss gets for risking his neck on steeples. Fate plays favorites, though some of us try to kid ourselves that all are created equal. Talent is partly responsible for Our Mary's huge income but the principal factor was the invention of the movie.

SPRING
Spring has been late this year because the sun has been having a chill. The heat cast off by that great furnace up in the sky is not up to standard. While it's only four per cent less than it should be, that's enough to play havoc with our weather.

So announces Prof. C. G. Abbot of the National Academy of Science. "Sensational and extraordinary!" scientists comment. The sudden and unexplained cooling of the sun began about 15 months ago. Don't worry. A congressional committee probably will investigate it. The sun's chill follows a period of several years in which its heat was above normal. Apparently nature is merely evening things—restoring to normal balance.

BOOM
Three years ago this May, the silk market collapsed and the great after-the-war boom began going to pieces. You recall those happy days, when money grew on trees. The ghost of that prosperity is out of its grave now, for how long no one knows.
Just before prosperity had "a stroke" in 1920, business was going at top speed. And yet, for every 140 cars of freight moved by the railroads in those days, the roads recently have been hauling 184 cars. We're in a Production Boom now, not a Big Profits Boom as in 1920.

THEATRICAL
You read about Mary Pickford's salary of $10,000 a week—over half a million dollars a year. There are hundreds of business men in America who make that much or more. Why do they catch your attention and cling less than Mary?
The big salary lures most of us. But what makes the real impression is Mary's fame—her silent applause. We're all theatrical at heart, long to strut before the audience. Let the average person gratify his vanity and he'll let you have the money.

RUM-RUNNERS
British liquor exports to Mexico (?) and West Indies (?) last year totaled 600,500 gallons, against 30,156 in 1918. At the most, not more than 2,300,000 quarts were smuggled into America last year, or only a quart for every 59 of us. Prohibition a failure?

Garden" added a pleasing combination of beauty and pleasing music to the show. Harry Bernstein and Archie McPherson, in their impersonation of "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheehan" won all kinds of laurels in the show but made the stage hands kind of sore by delaying the show about ten minutes in answer to repeated encores.
When the curtain lifted on the second part of the show, the Elks modern minstrels, there was a round of applause. Several five men were on the stage, orchestra in the center, Clint Draper as director, the black-face and men in wild array and scores of others in costumes exceedingly pleasing to the eye. Thomas Hall was intercomedian. The music hits included "Where the Bamboo Babies Grow" with Dr. P. H. Grever singing "Through the Night" by George Humphreys, and peppy songs of hitting melodies from Dick Hall, Frank Gale, Harry Bernstein, H. H. Feiner, M. O. Steen, Henry Halverson, T. H. Halloran, Rex Bernick and the ensemble by the entire company.

Best Yet, Verdict
This was the fourth minstrel show Mr. Draper has directed for the Elks and it was voted the best of the four. New scenery and costumes brought by Mr. Draper added to the show, many of the effects reflecting the artistic selection of Mrs. Draper.

Girls of the Indian school were guests of the Elks.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHERTON TO HER FRIEND, REATRICE GRIMSHAW

DEAR REE
I am writing this letter to you because you only of all the people I know are aware of the reason why I decided not to give up my position when I married Sam. You know that he, like many other men of great talent or business propensity of vision and fascination, was addicted to drink before the prohibition law was passed.

I do not think I would ever have married him had not prohibition become a law. It seemed to me that in our circumstances it would be almost impossible for Sam to get very much liquor and I knew he really wanted to break off from the awful stuff.

You have often heard my ideas on the subject and you know that I have always thought it was the agent which led to the most terrible tragedies and the greatest immorality in all the world.

Sam is not unkind; he is not ungentlemanly; he is not impolite even when he has been drinking. But he is not himself. And I am always afraid that he will do something for which he will have to pay to the uttermost.

The day after the quarrel of which I wrote you, when Sam came in I noticed that he did not kiss me. I thought it was very strange, but when I made an excuse to get near him, I understood. He had been drinking. He owned up to it when I accused him, but excused it by saying that his boss had invited him to luncheon and that he had had something on his hip. "I could hardly refuse to drink with my boss, could I?" he inquired, somewhat belligerently.

"I wonder if you know," I said to Sam, "that Mr. Watkins would be the first to discharge you if you should do anything reprehensible while under the influence of liquor?"

"Of course I do, my dear, but I see I am not going to do anything reprehensible. You know that, do you not?"

"I think you did something reprehensible, Sam, when you accepted a drink even from your boss. You were both disobeying the laws of your country."

"Oh, come off, Sally, don't be a prude. A man is rather proud of being drunk nowadays. It shows that either he has money himself or has friends who have money."

"And is having money the standard by which you live, Sam?"

"Isn't it yours?" he asked rather satirically.

And then, Sally, I knew that Sam thought I was working outside my home simply to make a little more money when you know and I know I was only keeping my position for fear that some day Sam will lose his.

Am I right or is he? Dubiously.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts

Private Buttons was very happy. He had always wanted to be a general and now he was one.

He was a general in the wooden army in Bing-Bing Land because the Twins had made a mistake when he was getting mended in the hospital after a battle.

They had painted General Gold Brand's star on Private Button's shoulder and hadn't put anything on the general's shoulder.

The wooden army never knew the difference because they both looked alike, and saluted Private Buttons and stood around and waited for orders as though he had been a general all his life.

"Now then!" smiled Private Buttons to himself. "We've been dilly dallying long enough and I for one am tired of fighting. I'm going to do something big."

So he called the officers around him and told them to get ready for battle.

"I want the big guns here!" he said, pointing to a man. "And the cavalry there!" And he pointed to another place. "And trenches dug here, and there and yonder! Be ready to go over the top at 6 o'clock. The officers all said, 'Yes sir!' Very good, sir!" and went away to get ready.

At that very minute General Hobbledohy of the tin army was pinning medals on Nancy and Nick, and boasting that he would win the war. Suddenly bang bang bang, Bang! bang, bang! went a hundred guns outside. Everybody jumped.

The door was flung open and in rushed a dozen wooden soldiers.

"You are our prisoner, General Hobbledohy," they cried. "Hurrah, the war is over and we have won. Hurrah for Nancy and Nick!"

Isn't that the dearest? When we are boasting the most usually the very time we should be most careful.

Medics Publish New Magazine

A new magazine, "Hygeia" published by the American Medical association with headquarters in Chicago Ill., made its first appearance this month.

The magazine is undoubtedly intended as an inspirational organ for the medical profession. Subjects prominently before people of the present age are treated in the issue by various authorities.

"Hay Fever; The Early Spring Type," is thoroughly discussed by I. Chandler Walker who develops the subject from ancient times up to the present. He throws some interesting lights upon the symptoms of the disease.

"Our Favorite Murder" which is the mosquito instead of the rattlesnake is ably dealt with by Samuel Hopkins Adams. Other interesting subjects which are treated in the issue are "The diseases caused by parasites and their geographic distribution," "Scientific nutrition and public health," "Garden cities of health," "The Danger of Measles," "Patent Medicines," and a number of other equally interesting articles.

The magazine is neatly printed and contains 132 pages of reading matter.

Last year there were 23,968 stry accidents in London, an increase of 3087 on the previous year.

BIG LEAGUE TEAMS FIGHT FOR VICTORY

Close Games Rule in Major League Contests, Some Going to Extra Innings

Chicago, May 5.—Close, hard fighting games marked the play in the major leagues yesterday, half of the contests going into extra innings.

The four first division clubs in the National league their second section opponents and in the American the result was as nearly reversed as possible under the schedule, two of the first division teams falling before second division assaults, one first division beating a close rival and one trailing.

The New York Giants were out-hit by Philadelphia in 13 innings, but won 11 to 9. The White Sox of Chicago checked the onrush of Detroit in the American, 4 to 0, Red Faber winning the first game of the season.

Marty Callaghan, Chicago leftfielder, stole home in the tenth and the Cubs took a 10 inning contest from St. Louis, 2 to 1. Rube Marquard, in his ancient form, pitched Boston to the other extra inning contest in the Nationals over Brooklyn, 1 to 0.

It went 13 innings and was the sixth out of the last seven games that the Robins have won.

Charley Grimm, Pirate first sacker, hit in his 17th straight game this year and his mates battled savagely, downing Cincinnati 11 to 6.

Brown's sluggers made three home runs to one for the Indians. Washington evaded its standing with Boston, 7 to 4.

Umpire George Hildebrand helped the Browns beat the Speaker tribe but he didn't know he was doing them a good turn. He banished McManus from the game in the fourth inning and Durest, who replaced him, celebrated the occasion by busting out a brace of home runs in consecutive innings.

DEMPSEY TO GET $300,000

World's Champion To Be Paid Before He Steps in Ring

Chicago, May 5.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, will receive $300,000 for risking his title against Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul challenger, in a 15 round contest to a decision at Shelby, Mont., July 4, while Gibbons will gamble with the promoters for his share of the receipts.

This was revealed when all obstacles to the match were overcome to the satisfaction of Jack Kearns, manager of the champion. Kearns will receive $100,000 in cash today as a first installment of the three hundred thousand dollar guarantee, and will attach his signature to the articles closing the match.

Under the terms of the contract Dempsey will receive the second $100,000 on June 15, and will receive the final $100,000 on July 2

—48 hours before going into the ring. Gibbons will not receive a cent of the receipts until the first $300,000 is in the box office. He will receive 50 per cent of all money over this amount until the $600,000 mark is reached. After this figure is reached the challenger will receive 25 per cent of all over $600,000 and also will picture rights, in addition to $2,500 for training expenses. Dempsey has been allowed $10,000 to cover his training expenses.

MARRIAGE COSTS DETROIT GIRL HOME, MILLIONS

Detroit, Mich., May 5.—Loss of millions which she would have inherited and banishment from ever from the home of her parents is the price of Florence A. Barringrand, daughter of John Avery, Detroit millionaire, has paid for marrying Francis Barringrand, her father's gardener.

The mother made the announcement today.

"We never want to see that man again. We cut all this from our lives and to us our daughter is dead forever," Mrs. Avery said, tears filling her eyes.

"Our daughter would not listen to us and she must pay the price of her folly."

Parental objection to the match, it was said, was based on discrepancy of age between Florence and Barringrand. Miss Avery was 42 and Barringrand was 34, according to the marriage certificate. The marriage took place here a week ago and did not become known until yesterday.

Barringrand and his wife have gone east, where they intend to buy a small farm.

NEW POISON FOR HOPPERS RECOMMENDED

Fargo, N. D., May 5.—Recommendations for the use of amyl acetate, a fruit-scented chemical for use with bran instead of the usual oranges and lemons for poisoning grasshoppers were made at a meeting of the North Dakota State Entomological committee in Fargo, N. D., today.

Fifteen entomologists from North and South Dakota, Minnesota; and three adjoining Canadian states were present at the sessions at which insect pest problems confronting the northern spring wheat growing area were discussed.

Although no serious trouble with grasshoppers is expected in North Dakota, local outbreaks are liable to occur in areas where they were common last year, Dr. Webster says. Amyl acetate is easy to use for preparing poison bran and can best be obtained by farmers through extension workers or county agents. Recommendations call for 3 ounces of amyl acetate to 100 pounds of bran together with a poison such as white arsenic. The acetate is used to attract the grasshoppers to the mixture. Plowing and burying all stubble before May 10 in fields where damage by Hessian fly occurred last year is the recommendation for controlling this pest, stated Dr. Webster.

American Red Cross Starts Campaign to Diminish Water Tragedies in U. S.

Upper—The crack Jacksonville, Fla., Red Cross Life-Saving Corps which has many rescues to its credit. Center (standing) is Commodore W. E. Longfellow, national field agent of the corps. Lower—Red Cross Life-Saving experts at Long Pond, Plymouth, Mass., giving instruction in modern methods of resuscitation of persons rescued from the water.

WITH the swimming and boating season already starting up in some sections of the country, the American Red Cross, through its Life-Saving Corps, is inaugurating an intensive campaign to lower the appalling loss of life in the United States through drowning. Statistics it has compiled show that in 1921, 6,489 men, women and children died in the waters of the United States through accidents, while during the last ten years the total of such deaths has reached almost 60,000.

The means by which the Red Cross will carry on its fight against water accidents will be extension of the Life-Saving instruction it provides through its own experts or fosters through community Life-Saving campaigns. Already 439 Red Cross Chapters in continental United States are providing Life-Saving instruction, and it is purposed to greatly increase the number.

In particular will the Red Cross strive to reach the children. Of the more than 27,000 certificated Life-Savers enrolled in the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, 10,000 are Juniors and a quota of 21,000 additional Junior Life-Savers has been set.

In addition to instruction provided through its Chapters, the Red Cross will conduct two large Life-Saving institutes for the instruc-

In a message to the Chapters, Judge John Barton Payne, Chairman of the American Red Cross, says:

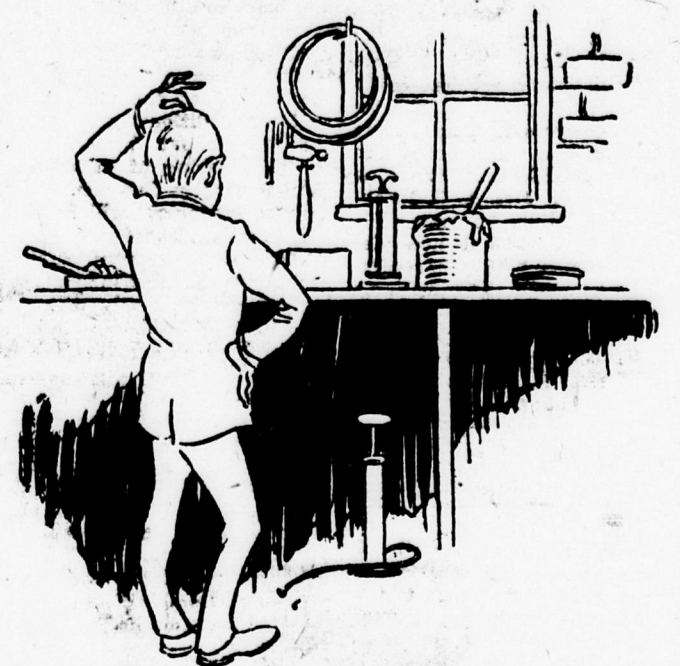

"Too many preventable drownings occur annually. The total of 58,429 during the ten years ended with 1921 is appalling. The Red Cross is exercising one of its charter functions along lines of intense practicality in the campaign of Life-Saving which it has inaugurated, and I invoke the hearty aid of Chapter workers in furthering it to a successful conclusion."

Standing Back of Your Mousetraps

A shoe manufacturer whose store in New York City is in a rather out-of-the-way locality recently called the attention of the reading public to the familiar lines:

"If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mousetrap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

For many years people have beaten a path to this shoe manufacturer's door. He has proved the truth of this famous aphorism.

And where did he publish this quotation which he applies with such pride to his business?

Why, in an advertisement, to be sure—for this manufacturer is a consistent and regular advertiser, and when he has anything to say, he says it through his advertising. It may fairly be assumed that he would not look for a thriving business in the best of mousetraps, or shoes, if people were not told about them as people except to be told—through advertising.

Of course, people do find out which are the best mousetraps, the best shoes, the best tires, the best breakfast foods, and buy them in preference to others.

And people today are pretty well aware that when a manufacturer puts Advertising back of the thing he makes, he is telling the world that the path to his door is a broad highway.

BIG LEAGUE TEAMS FIGHT FOR VICTORY

Close Games Rule in Major League Contests, Some Going to Extra Innings

Chicago, May 5.—Close, hard fighting games marked the play in the major leagues yesterday, half of the contests going into extra innings.

The four first division clubs in the National league had their second section opponents and in the American the result was as nearly reversed as possible under the schedule, two of the first division teams falling before second division assaults, one first division beating a close rival and one trailing.

The New York Giants were out-hit by Philadelphia in 13 innings, but won 11 to 9. The White Sox of Chicago checked the onrush of Detroit in the American, 4 to 0, Red Faber winning the first game of the season.

Marty Callaghan, Chicago leftfielder, stole home on the tenth and the Cubs took a 10 inning contest from St. Louis, 2 to 1. Rube Marquard, in his ancient form, pitched Boston to the other extra inning contest in the Nationals over Brooklyn, 1 to 0.

It went 13 innings and was the sixth out of the last seven games that the Robins have won.

Charley Grimm, Pirate first sacker, hit in his 17th straight game this year and his mates battled savagely, downing Cincinnati 11 to 5. Detroit's sluggers made three home runs to one for the Indians. Washington evaded its standing with Boston, 7 to 4.

Umpire George Hildebrand helped the Browns beat the Speaker tribe but he didn't know he was doing them a good turn. He banished McManus from the game in the fourth inning and Durrst, who replaced him, celebrated the occasion by busting out a brace of home runs in consecutive innings.

World's Champion To Be Paid Before He Steps in Ring

Chicago, May 5.—Jack Dempsey worlds heavyweight champion, will receive $300,000 for risking his title against Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul challenger in a 15 round contest to a decision at Shelby, Mont., July 4, while Gibbons will gamble with the promoters for his share of the receipts.

This was revealed when all obstacles for the match were overcome to the satisfaction of Jack Kearns, manager of the champion. Kearns will receive $100,000 in cash today as a first installment of the three hundred thousand dollars guaranteed, and will attach his signature to the articles closing the match.

Under the terms of the contract Dempsey will receive the second $100,000 on June 15, and will receive the final $100,000 on July 2.

—48 hours before going into the ring. Gibbons will not receive a cent of the receipts until the first $300,000 is in the box office. He will receive 50 per cent of all money over this amount until the $600,000 mark is reached. After this figure is reached the challenger will receive 25 per cent of all over $600,000 and also will picture rights, in addition to $2,500 for training expenses. Dempsey has been allowed $10,000 to cover his training expenses.

MARRIAGE COSTS DETROIT GIRL HOME, MILLIONS

Detroit, Mich., May 5.—Loss of millions which she would have inherited and banishment from over the home of her parents is the price of Florence A. Barrigrand, daughter of John Avery, Detroit millionaire, has paid for marrying Francis Barrigrand, her father's gardener.

The mother made the announcement today. "We never want to see that man again," she said, "but all this from our lives and to us our daughter is dead forever," Mrs. Avery said, tears filling her eyes.

"Our daughter would not listen to us and she must pay the price of her folly."

Parental objection to the match, it was said, was based on discrepancy of age between Florence and Barrigrand. Miss Avery was 42 and Barrigrand was 34, according to the marriage certificate. The marriage took place a week ago and did not become known until yesterday.

Barrigrand and his wife have gone east, where they intend to buy a small farm.

NEW POISON FOR HOPPERS RECOMMENDED

Fargo, N. D., May 5.—Recommendations for the use of amyl acetate, a fruit-scented chemical for use with bran instead of the usual oranges (see) lemon for poisoning grasshoppers were made at a meeting of the North Dakota West-International Committee on Furin Pests, held at Winnipeg, Manitoba, last week, according to Dr. R. L. Webster, entomologist, North Dakota Agricultural college who presented the state at the conference.

Fifteen entomologists from North and South Dakota, Minnesota; and three adjoining Canadian states were present at the sessions at which insect pest problems confronting the northern spring wheat growing area were discussed.

Although no serious trouble with grasshoppers is expected in North Dakota, local outbreaks are liable to occur in areas where they were common last year, Dr. Webster says. Amyl acetate is easy to use for preparing poison bran and can best be obtained by farmers through extension workers or county agents. Recommendations call for 3 ounces of amyl acetate to 100 pounds of bran together with a poison such as white arsenic. The acetate is used to attract the grasshoppers to the mixture.

Flowing and burying all stubble before May 10 in fields where damage by Hessian fly occurred last year in the recommendation for controlling this pest, stated Dr. Webster.

Standing Back of Your Mousetraps

A shoe manufacturer whose store in New York City is in a rather out-of-the-way locality recently called the attention of the reading public to the familiar lines:

"If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mousetrap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

For many years people have beaten a path to this shoe manufacturer's door. He has proved the truth of this famous aphorism.

And where did he publish this quotation which he applies with such pride to his business?

Why, in an advertisement, to be sure—for this manufacturer is a consistent and regular advertiser, and when he has anything to say, he says it through his advertising. It may fairly be assumed that he would not look for a thriving business in the best of mousetraps, or shoes, if people were not told about them as people except to be told—through advertising.

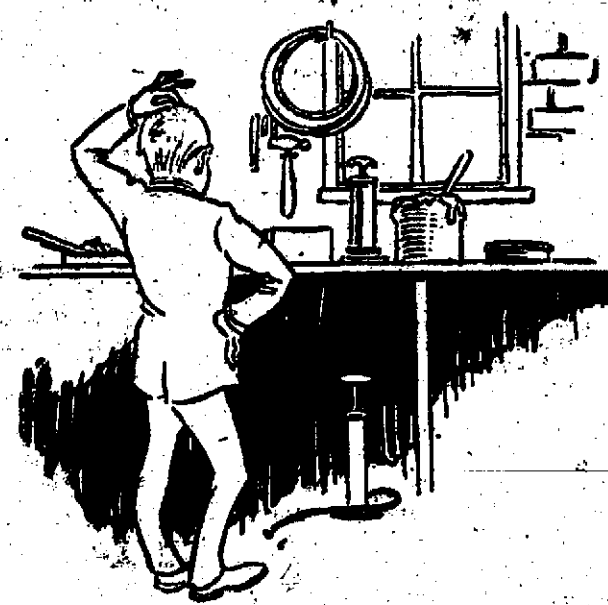

Of course, people do find out which are the best mousetraps, the best shoes, the best tires, the best breakfast foods, and buy them in preference to others.

And people today are pretty well aware that when a manufacturer puts Advertising back of the thing he makes, he is telling the world that the path to his door is a broad highway.
